The Civil Code of 1811, although maintaining the religious ceremony, broke with the Canon Law and laid down special rules and conditions. The Ecclesiastical Courts were shorn of their judicial power. But, in 1856, the Ordinance of the Council of Trent having come into force again, no marriage was declared valid, unless it was performed before the Roman Catholic parish priest, in the presence of two or three witnesses. II. --But, in 1868, the liberal party succeeded in carrying a statute (25 May, 1868) which, re-establishing the code of 1811, recognises civil marriage in cases where the priest of the parish has refused to act. (nothwendige Ehe). The parties to the marriage may have their banns published and the ceremony performed by the Civil authority. (Art. 2....
